EDITORS GIVEN GENUINE LUAU

THE EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION
GIVEN A LUAU AT THE KAPOLANI
MATERNITY HOME.

Last evening on the broad lanai of the Kapiolani Maternity Home the visiting Editorial party from Southern California were given a genuine Hawaiian luau. With this luau the entertainment committee culminated its efforts to show the editors what true Hawaiian hospitality means.

The broad lanai of the Home proved to be a splendid place for such an occasion. There was room and to spare. The huge tables were laid across one end of the lanai and on the two sides. The whole was beautifully decorated with flags and brilliantly lighted throughout. The tables were covered with ti leaves and ferns. The other decorations consisted of fruit artistically arranged.

The one hundred and fifty guests gathered promptly at 7:30 o'clock and spent the first half hour after their arrival in listening to Hawaiian music as provided by the Kaul Glee Club. The Club which was seated at one end of the lanai brought forth exclamations of praise from the visitors.

About 8 o'clock every one had found his partner and were seated at the tables. Here almost every known Hawaiian edible was to be found. The visitors tried each one and the way in which most of them were cooked brought forth praise on every side. It evidently was hard however for the editors to eat with their fingers. One very aptly remarked that such a method of eating would prove a boon to his small boy. Every one was in jolly spirits and the luau was a great success from an edible standpoint.

After the luau was finished Toastmaster Charles L. Rhodes arose and proposed the following toast to the President of the United States:

"The most exalted station to which a man may be called by the free choice of a great people; an office that in all the shock and strife and struggle of national life, and in all the varying talents of the men who have been called to it, has never been unworthily filled; the present incumbent, one of whom every American is proud, in admiration of whom there is no honest division except such as may come from honest difference of views as to methods, and those differences of temperament by which it is given to some men to hope more and to fear less than their fellows; The President of the United States."

The next toast proposed by the Toastmaster was "Our Guests." It was responded to by John A. McCandless who spoke most of the time on steamship urging upon the editors to get a direct steamship line between here and San Pedro so that travel would open up between here and Southern California and bring all people like the Editors into closer touch with us.

D. H. Holt was called upon to respond to the toast "The Southern California Editorial Association." He confined himself to thanking the Promotion Committee for the attention that had been shown, the Editors while they have been visiting here. He stated that he had been with the party to the different expositions, but never had they been treated as they were here.

To the toast "Hawaii Nei," Judge Dole responded. He spoke on annexation and how all had worked for it by going to the coast. It was only when the statesmen were invited to come here and see for themselves that annexation was accomplished. So it was in the present case. The editors should come from the coast and then what we want in the way of a tourist crop would not prove to be a dream.

Miss Grace Tower, one of the Editorial party, responded to a toast to "The Press." Miss Tower gave some exquisite and clever verses of her own composition which completely captured the gathering. It pictured the hopes of all newspaper workers.

C. L. Holland one of the party, responded to the toast "California, Our Big Brother." He spoke for a few moments on the tie that binds the two places together and stated that the tie should be made stronger as the years go by.

George W. Smith spoke on "Hawaii. A Review." He gave a very eloquent short address and pictured the hopes of Hawaii as a part of the United States.

Mrs. Penny responded to the toast "The Charm of Honolulu." She stated that she could and would never forget Honolulu with all its beauties.

G. Ray Horton of Los Angeles spoke on the future of the Pacific, and he gave a very entertaining ten-minute talk. He stated that while he was not a prophet he could see that the Pacific held the hope of the world. He was loudly applauded as he concluded.

As an introduction to an exhibition of the Hawaiian hula, which concluded the evening's program, Dr. N. B. Emerson gave a brief but interesting dissertation on the hula, which he said was essentially a song or a poem, or at least a rhythmic chant with an illustrative accompanying dance. The hula songs danced last night were printed in English rhythmic translation, made by Dr. Emerson, so that the guests, knowing the sentiments of the words, could form some idea of what was sought to be represented by the dance. This made it additionally interesting, especially to the visitors. These songs he said were a species of folk lore. Another interesting part of the program were the singing of three modern Hawaiian songs, the compositions of Julia Walluka, by the author and composer, and Miss Mary Ann Kaloamaikai Perry. English versions of these songs also by Dr.

FIRE DRILLS IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

CHILDREN TO BE TAUGHT TO MAKE QUICK EXITS IN CASE OF ALARMS.

At the meeting of the Board of Education yesterday afternoon Superintendent Habbitt brought up the matter of having a fire drill in the public schools. In some of the larger schools it is deemed necessary to have the children drilled so that in case of an alarm they will be able to leave the building quickly without any panic. The fire department will be consulted in the matter.

A number of changes in teachers were announced. Mrs. Hofgaard resigned as principal of Kihohi Sam Mahuka Spencer was appointed school agent for North Kohala.

There will be no school at Pukou. This is a matter which the department will take up later. There is a lack of accommodations for the teacher.

Miss McDonald of the Normal school was allowed a small amount to make up a difference in her vacation allowance.

Thomas Kaal, principal of the Aloha, Kona, school, was given a life certificate.

The school year will comprise 23 weeks, divided as follows: Fall term, September 19 to December 21, 15 weeks; winter and spring term, January 7 to April 5, 13 weeks; concluding term, April 15 to June 21, 10 weeks. The first term is one week less than usual, and the last term has one more week added.

Ruth Baker was empowered to open a private school in Central Kona. This will take the overflow from the public schoolhouse, which is very much overcrowded. Miss Ella Paris, school agent, recommended this course. Emerson were printed on the program.

The visitors were conducted through the Maternity Home by Mrs. Dowsett, Mrs. Macfarlane and Miss Elizabeth Dutot, the matron.

The luau was in charge of the following committee: Charles L. Rhodes, chairman; Dr. N. B. Emerson, A. P. Taylor.

The following list includes those present:

A DISADVANTAGE.

"Do you think our orators are as eloquent as those of our early history?"

"Quite as eloquent," answered Senator Sorghum. "They are at a disadvantage owing to the fact that it is no longer customary to force their remarks into esteem by putting them into the school readers."

THE LEONARD IS BEST

Leonard Cleanable Refrigerators are built with eight walls, each wall as follows: Outside is wood, then dead air space, then a layer of parchment sheathing, then a layer of mineral wool then a waterproof sheathing and finally the inside zinc wall. Air cannot possibly pass through these barriers and the air within is dry and pure. The doors are airtight.

The ice is protected from outside heat and cannot melt rapidly.

Take a match and leave it in the Leonard all night, then strike it. This is the test for dampness.

Very few refrigerators can stand it. The Leonard is dry and keeps food pure and fresh.

The Leonard Cleanable Refrigerator is easiest in the world to clean. The inside parts are made to be removed and you can get into every corner. The circulation of air is founded on the latest scientific principles.

It is economical because it saves ice and is strongly constructed. We guarantee satisfaction in every one we sell.
